RETIREES

Ms. Lekha Nambiar
Assistant Professor
Department of English

Mrs. Lekha Nambiar joined the college in July 2010 as Assistant Professor in the English Department after a long innings of 13 years at SIES College. At a time when the college was losing its stalwarts to retirement, she came in as a valuable member of an earlier, warmer generation. Lekha ma'am was a quiet, sensitive and poised person, who radiated peace and calm. One just had to glance at her smiling face in the staff room to feel that all was well in the world. As editor of the college magazine, and an active member of the literary committee, she spread her love for language among the staff and students alike. We wish her a happy and healthy retired life. May the light within her keep shining and spread its warmth all around her as it did here at VES!

A small poem for her by Ms. Shmilona Jain

Never knew I could have a friend a silver jubilee apart.
But then I guess one shouldn't question matters of the heart. 😊
I found a friend, a listener a mentor who always made me smile.
Who taught me how to forget work stress
And walk beyond my miles.
Editing wouldn't be the same without you,
Nor my trips up the stairs.
With my satire partner away, my jokes might lose their flair.
But I guess you need to go, as you become free from this phase of life.
I wish you the best for a beginning that is fresh and charming as a new wife.
And when I miss you too much, I guess what I shall do,
Is come knock on your door, for a cup of coffee or two.

Mr. Suresh Tumbare's journey in the college began on 9th August 1979, the day the college itself started! He was appointed as Laboratory attendant in the Microbiology Department from Day 1. After seventeen years of devoted work, he was promoted to the post of Laboratory Assistant of the Department, a post he retained till his retirement on 30th September, 2018. Sureshji, as he is known in the college, was a sincere and conscientious worker, who always put the college and department above his own interest. A friendly and cheerful person, he led the non-teaching staff of the Microbiology department, to form a skilled, close-knit and dedicated team that together maintained a high standard of work. His fatherly attitude towards his younger colleagues as well as the students, earned him a special place in their hearts. The teachers trusted his skill, commitment and keen ability to shoulder the administrative duties of the department. Never one to shirk duty or rest on his laurels, he was always willing to do the smallest job, if the need arose. His beautiful handwriting was put to good use on notices and black boards. He was an enthusiastic participant of the annual Satyanarayan Puja and all the other activities organized by the non-teaching staff of the college. We will miss you Sureshji. The college will not be the same without you!

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council is a group of screened and elected representatives who work through their annual terms to make the college a more inclusive, buzzing and conducive environment for the students. As Lincoln would put it: It's for the students, by the students. Recently, the college witnessed the inauguration of the Student Council Room, the walls of which are embellished with the work of creative students determined to paint the college a soothing shade. Paintings on the walls of the Student Council Room add colour to the life of not only the Council members but anybody who passes by the corridor on the 3rd floor of the main building. What's more, collages, memories, and flowers all added to the pomp of the inauguration ceremony graced by the presence of Principal Dr. (Mrs.) J. K. Phadnis, Vice-Principal Dr. Anita Kanwar and Executive Administrator Ms. Rita Vazirani.
