EXAM - EK PRATIYOGITA

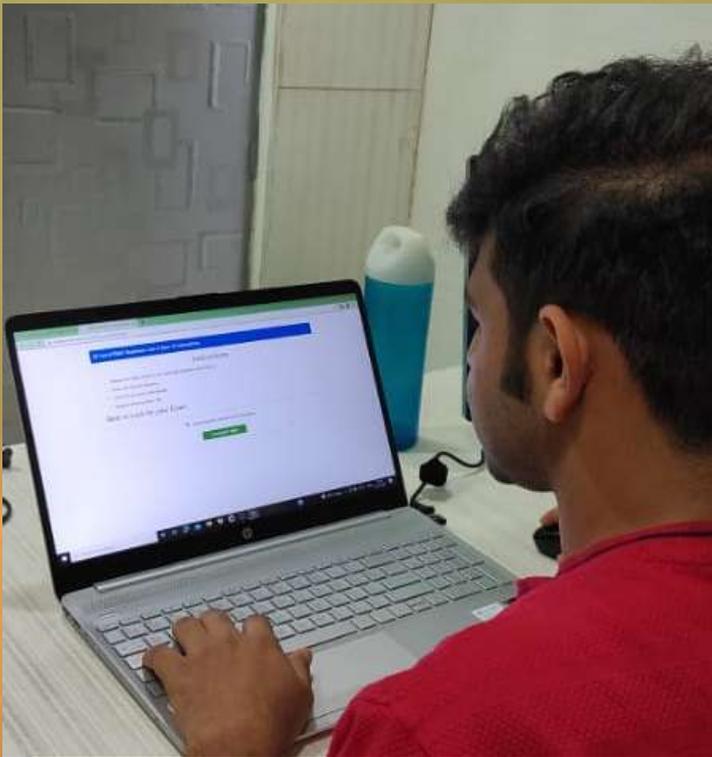

Some historical sources attribute the invention of standardized assessments to Henry Fischel of religious studies at Indian University during the 20th century. While a lot of people attribute formal assessments to the above gentlemen, the concept of 'examination' has its roots in ancient China.

Did you know? Almost 2000 years ago in China, being a government official was a matter of great prestige, and the only way to enter this elite club of government officials was to pass examinations that were designed under the watchful eyes of Emperor Zhang of Hen.

From school to college exams have been the most hated and most shunned things for some students who never like to indulge in it with pleasure until they have the charm of acquiring a degree. Otherwise, they compare it with a nightmare. Yet examinations are not devoid of good. There is a saying about it. "Trials are a veritable curse but they have their use."

The examination aims at judging a student's knowledge in a specific time frame with a competitive spirit. Competition is healthy if it is taken in an unrivaled way. The spirit of competition is in itself a way of promoting and developing new ideas.

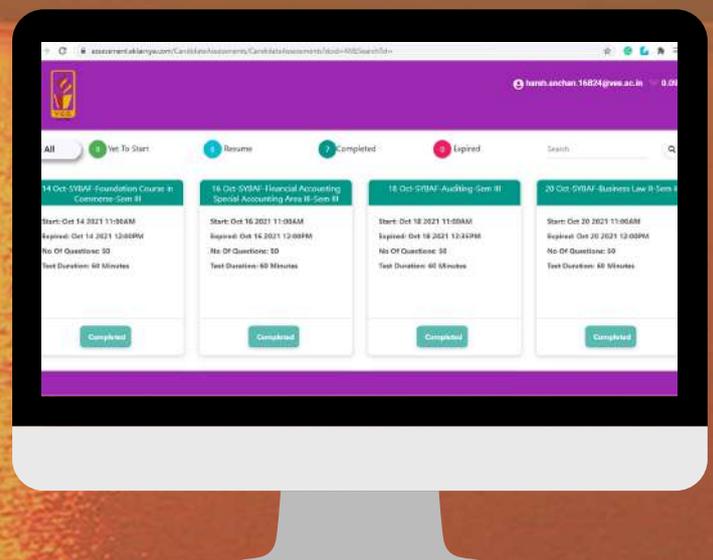

However as a popular quote goes – “Everything has certain PROS and CONS”, conducting exams also has its disadvantages. These days conducting examinations has been associated with obtaining a good score on the test rather than assessing the knowledge gained. Which in turn leads to cramming and later forgetting the content altogether – a very harmful methodology. But we must not forget that the advantages exceed the disadvantages and hence, exams must be taken as a part of a feedback for the students.

THAT SHIFT FROM PEN TO KEYBOARD

Practical exams, when conducted, can improve a child’s thinking capability and create an innovative mind. With exams, the ability to work and think under pressure becomes primal thus building an important trait for the students to develop over time. They enable the teachers to know how well students have understood the subject. A good result makes the teacher as well as the parents happy. The effort of the teacher is rewarded when students pass an examination with good marks. Thus, a teacher’s dedication towards his profession is also judged through examination. Parents become proud of their children when they perform well in the examinations.

As said- “Challenges don’t come to break you, they come to make you realize your true potential”. So for the next time, during examinations- Don’t panic, Don’t stress, Don’t fear, just Calm down, relax and gear up for this beautiful challenge.

The clean person is not the one that runs away from dirt but the one who takes time and effort to clean up the environment. On 23rd October 2021, a Drive was conducted to maintain Cleanliness in Chembur and Kurla. The drive consisted of 2 groups. The 2 groups went to various bus stops and Chembur and Kurla railway stations. The main challenge faced by the teams was the extreme heat they had above their head the whole time which made them sweat. But volunteers did have a smart mind to wear a white t-shirt because a white t-shirt reflects heat whereas other colors don't. This drive was conducted to make our city clean so that whenever we see plastic we don't blame people for causing trouble we should rather think about it as a duty and pick it up and throw it to respective areas. As we all know - "Convenience at the cost of the planet is not convenient at all.

-Andy Gilman

Not just our Doctors and Front line workers but each one of us is a Covid Warrior.

When the Covid-19 pandemic hit we all stood up with courage and fought on our own. Those were times we all were warriors without any shield. Now that we have one, Vivekanand Education Society's College of Arts, Science and Commerce is here to provide every single one of you with this shield named VACCINES.

Our NSS unit had helped in the Covid -19

Vaccination drive conducted in Vivekanand Education Society's College of Arts, Science and Commerce, Chembur Campus associated with Public Health Department, M Ward, Brihanmumbai Mahanagarपालिका on 28th & 29th October 2021. We understand the significance of vaccination in helping to stop the spread of the virus. Our main aim behind providing 24 NSS volunteers was to help them in the smooth conduct of the Vaccination drive.

SABKA SATH SABKA VIKAS

On the occasion of the birth anniversary of the "Father of our Nation" our volunteers visited Maldunge, the adopted village of our institute and took a step forward and lay a hand to the world. Among several important activities, one was the remembrance of our college's ex-NSS volunteer (Late Sir Dharendra Rathod) who left for his heavenly abode last year, due to COVID. A school library was named in his honour and a setup of 155 books. A cleanliness drive was the second activity conducted where the surroundings were deeply cleaned. The third activity was a survey similar to a census. The most important activity for that day was a soak pit because the water drainage was a hindrance. The volunteers built, covered & protected a proper drainage pit.

In cities like Mumbai, everyone and everything is continuously moving, people's packed schedules make them immerse themselves in the circle of a clock and the fun part is that not even a global pandemic was able to stop this moving crowd for too long. But such an over ornate city experiences uncertain events recurrently and road accidents are just one of them. VESASC understands the consequences of people not adhering to road safety measures hence making people aware of their duties as responsible individuals. Our volunteers performed a flash mob followed by the Musical Nukad Natak. Mumbai Police was encouraging enough to support the unit to conduct this event successfully. Traffic Police Mr. Jaisingh Jadhav, helped the volunteer to manage the traffic, and volunteers made sure that there is no roadblock.

The idea of street play was to make sure people are not only made to listen to what is being said, instead, they enjoy what they are seeing and they want to listen and get inspired to do things correctly, which will not only save their lives but also of others.

every step and just like that, I realized true potential. And it was only for my team that I was recognized as the Best Female Leader.

Most importantly, I cannot thank enough committee member Ankita ma'am who always had my back and never left any of us alone whenever we needed someone to support and guide us. And a special thanks to our Programme Officers Ware sir and Sunita ma'am, for always believing in our whole team. When I look back at 2019, when I had just joined the college, I had never even dreamt of improving so much, it is only because of NSS that I have become a much better version of myself and I will never stop becoming better. I only wish if I could get one more year to be a part of NSS.

To be honest, joining NSS team has been one of my best decisions in life. It has definitely improved my interpersonal skills, but more than that, it has taught me to be compassionate and this is what has completely transformed my life.

Due to the whole covid situation, this was the first time when all the activities were performed online and coordination was challenging. I never knew if I could do that, but my whole team never gave up on anything, which always kept motivating me to go the extra mile at
